PM urges industry to play a larger role in defence

AJAI SHUKLA New Delhi, 27 August

n an unscheduled appearance at a Ministry of Defence (MoD) webinar that even caught Defence Minister Rajnath Singh by surprise, Prime Minister Narendra Modi delivered an 18-minute speech on Thursday, talking up the government's "self reliant India" policy in defence and urging private industry to play a larger role.

"For many years, India has been the world's biggest importer of defence equipment," said Modi, blaming it on the failure of earlier governments. This, he said, was changing, repeatedly invoking the confidence of a "New India".

"When India got Independence, it had enormous capability as a defence producer. At that time, there was a defence production ecosystem that had been established more than a century earlier," said Modi.

In fact, only the most rudimentary defence production facilities existed at Independence: a handful of ordnance factories that produced low-tech stores such as clothing and ammunition:

and a couple of shipyards with no ability to build modern warships. "There were very few countries that had the capabilities and potential that India had. But it is India's misfortune that, for decades, nobody gave this matter the attention it deserved ... And many countries that started after us overtook us and went far ahead in the last half century," said Modi.

"But now, the situation is in the last few years, it has been our effort to throw off the shackles in this sector."

Modi laid claim to a list of achievements: more manufacturing, new technologies, and a larger role for the private sector. "We have reformed the licensing norms in defence manufacturing, created a level playing field, simplified export procedures, reformed offset rules and many other such measures," said Modi.

"I believe that, even more important than these reforms is that we are all experiencing a new mindset towards defence issues in the country. A new mindset has been born," said the PM.

"For creating a modern and self-reliant

India, it is essential to have an attitude of self-confidence in the sphere of defence. For a long time, the country had been considering having a Chief of Defence Staff, but nobody was able to take a decision. This decision emblemizes the self-confidence of the New India," he said.

"For a long time, foreign investment was not permitted in defence production. It started being permitted during the Atal (Behari Vajpayee) government. After our government came in there was further liberalisation and now, for the first time, we are opening the doors for 74 per cent FDI in this sector under the automatic route. This is because of the self-confidence of the New India.'

"For decades, Ordnance changing. You would have experienced that, Factories were run like government departments ... Now we are moving towards corporatising these factories... This is a manifestation of the self-confidence of the New India,' said Modi. He said the defence ministry was encouraging co-production through joint ventures with foreign partners. "Because of the size of the Indian market, production in India is the best option for our foreign partners. Our government has worked to the mantra of 'reform, perform and transform.' It has been our endeavor to eliminate red tape and spread the red carpet."

The PM stated that the entire world had seen India's reforms, listing out the fields of Intellectual Property, taxation, insolvency and bankruptcy; and even in difficult

India, China agree full restoration of peace essential: MEA

A complete disengagement in eastern Ladakh requires re-deployment of troops by each side towards their regular posts on the respective sides of the Line of Actual Control (LAC), India said on Thursday on the prolonged border row with China. The spokesperson in the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) Anurag Srivastava said this can be achieved only through mutually agreed reciprocal actions. "Thus it is important to bear in mind that achieving this requires agreed actions by both sides," he said.

spheres such as space and atomic energy. "We are also moving ahead on labour law reform. These reforms are not going to stop; they will continue," said Modi.

Rajnath Singh said the MoD had allocated ₹52,000 crore from the defence capital budget for domestic procurement.

The CDS, General Bipin Rawat, said that a large number of additional items would be added to the "no-import list" of 101 items. 'The list is going to increase, and we will have the next list by early next year ... Gradually, as we see the private industry delivering, we will keep on adding more items to the list.

Still have firepower left, says RBI guv

"Post containment of Covid, a very careful trajectory needs to be followed for orderly unwinding of the various counter-cyclical measures taken by the RBI and the financial sector should return to normal functioning without relying on the regulatory relaxations and other measures as the new norm," Das said, adding it would be a very "cautious exit plan," with a long-term view of resolutions and measures.

The RBI still has firepower left and will step in when the situation demands.

"We have not exhausted our policy options, whether (on) rate cuts or ... any other aspect of central banking. We have not exhausted our instruments or ammunitions. What the MPC (monetary policy committee) minutes (of August 6 policy) have said is that the decision of the MPC was to keep the gunpowder dry." The rate cuts have had their desired impact and some of it is still playing out. "As RBI, our endeavour is to ensure all segments of the financial markets, including bond and the currency markets, function in an efficient and stable manner. We are constantly watchful, extremely watchful and as and when we anticipate emerging situations, we will deal with it," the governor said in his fireside chat.

What measures we will take I cannot spell out. But our responsibility is that there should be orderly, non-disruptive borrowing by the government," Das said.

The RBI is monitoring the situation at home and abroad, and the financial sector.

'The RBI takes a long-term view, and not just for tomorrow. We do think about today, tomorrow, and also one or two years ahead," the governor said.

The RBI has given enough forward guidance, but until there is some certainty on the Covid prognosis, giving guidance on inflation and growth would be difficult.

Times are very uncertain. The situation keeps changing very fast. Any number you put out, there is no absolute certainty that it will not change one month down the line," the RBI governor said. "When a central bank gives out a number, it has to be very responsible, we cannot change it one or two months later. Once there is some amount of certainty in the Covid-19 curve, the RBI will certainly give out numbers," Das said, adding that the RBI was deliberating on this issue.

According to Das, the composition of the new MPC is the prerogative of the government, but "conflict of interest has to be taken into consideration". The RBI governor is part of the selection panel. Banks must look at "sunrise ing those that have the potential to bounce back. The rural sector remains unexplored despite efforts to support it, while start-ups, renewables, logistics, value chains and other such potential areas should be given attention. "The banking sector has a responsible role to play not only as a facilitator of growth of the economy but also to earn its own bread. Thus, a complete relook at the business strategy and orientation is the immediate need of the hour." The current pandemic-related shock has put greater pressure on banks' balance sheet, and this may lead to an erosion of their capital. Banks must respond to the situation quickly and start raising capital. "Proactive building of buffers and raising capital will be crucial not only to ensure credit flow but also to build resilience in the financial system - resilience of individual banks and financial entities as well as resilience of the financial sector as a whole," the RBI governor said.

Banks shouldn't become clones of each other: Kumar

"I would be lying if I thought it would become so big," said Puri, under whose 26-year tenure HDFC became the largest bank in India by market capitalisation. "The objective was to make sure we are one of the best banks internationally, and I am quite satisfied with having reached there," he said

Puri, who counts JP Morgan CEO Jamie Dimon as one of his inspirations, said the biggest challenge of his career was to scale up the bank. "When you don't understand the challenges required to scale, you will falter."

Kumar said perhaps no other chairperson had to face as challenging a time as he faced. "When demonetisation happened, I was MD. As chairman, I witnessed the merger with associate banks; we underwent asset quality reviews and a stress on the balance sheet; then there was the bankruptcy code, and now the pandemic."

Kumar said anyone who joined as a probationary officer in SBI had the ambition to become chairman, but it was a long journey. "It is not that what I have, others did not have. They were equally competent people. Maybe, to some extent, it is destiny," he said, adding that like most officers, he too had missed a promotion once

When Puri was asked if he could go back in time. would he do things the exact same way, he replied in affirmative, while Kumar said he would probably have been a teacher if not a banker. On the importance of money as a means of motivation. both Kumar and Puri said money as a motivator lost its value after a point. "For me State Bank is everything. So it is the loyalty factor," Kumar said.

"Money has to be regarded as a collateral benefit and bevond a certain point, it is just a figure. It is the passion you put into a job, it is the desire to achieve that counts. The young people need to understand that money cannot be a prime motivator," Puri said.

The two also spoke on policy, financial and economic matters.

Kumar said the economy had seen a recovery from June, but cautioned that sectors like aviation, tourism, hospitality and entertainment services would continue to be severely stressed. He added that there had been no pressure from the government for banks to support the loan guarantee scheme for micro, small and medium enterprises.

'There was no pressure from the government to support the MSME scheme. The scheme was designed in consultation with us. It is a welldesigned scheme, which is why it is so successful,' Kumar said.

Kumar and Puri also spoke on the term loan instalment moratorium scheme, which ends August 31, and is a matter in front of the Supreme Court on whether interest could be waived or, whether banks could stop charging interest or interest accrued during the moratorium period.

Puri said the decision on moratorium by the government and the Reserve Bank of India was a good one since banks' cash flows were getting affected, while Kumar said the numbers differed from bank to bank.

Kumar said while demand for credit had not been high during the Covid-19 pandemic, the banks had tried to protect senior citizens from falling interest rates even as operational costs for serving savings bank account customers were high.

On bank consolidation, Puri and Kumar differed a little from one another. While Puri said that consolidation just for the sake of it would not help, and ownership did not directly co-relate to efficiency, Kumar said public sector banks eventually became clones of one another, and supervising a large number of banks was challenging for regulators.

States to get 0.5% more leeway on borrowing

The borrowing mechanism will be there for FY21, after which it will be reviewed in April 2021, said Pandey.

States are guaranteed full compensation for the first five years of the GST regime in case they fail to record 14 per cent growth in revenues from GST on the base year of FY16. They are yet to get a rupee of compensation in FY21 against the requirement of ₹1.5 trillion for the first four months, said Pandey.

Asked about the issue of raising cess or expanding the same, Sitharaman said the matter was not discussed in the meeting.

As to what the incentive is for states to go for just ₹97,000 crore and not the entire ₹2.35 trillion, the FM said it was up to them because some may not like to borrow the amount of shortfall caused by 'act of God' Covid-19.

Further, she disclosed that states would be given additional unconditional leeway of 0.5 percentage points of the GDP, as any additional borrowing will lead to fiscal deficit concerns.

States have already been given an unconditional 0.5 percentage point leeway over and above the 3 per cent under the Atmanirbhar Bharat package. Overall, they have been given a two-percentagepoint flexibility, though the remaining 1.5 percentage points are based on riders like initiating power sector reforms, and taking steps towards 'one nation one ration card'. ₹21,747 crore from the compensation cess
